To whom it concerns RE: Worrell Harvesting.

Casey Technology manage woodchip at the Rockland site for Danone. Worrell Harvesting are the commercial suppliers chosen by Danone to supply woodchip to that site. Over the last number of years we have found Worrell to portray a professional attitude in their dealings with us. Their truck drivers are competent well trained professionals who are always on site at the expected time and are able to deliver their product in an efficient manner suitable to the particular site.

The product that Worrell Harvesting provides is good quality; they have the capability to deliver the product as requested and are available as required. Trucks are well presented, clean and in good mechanical order, hence no delay.

Worrell Harvesting are presently in contract and have been offered future contracts.

We fully intend to continue to work with Worrell Harvesting as the demand for woodchip increases due to expected introduction of the Renewable Heat Incentive.

Yours sincerely,

Helen Casey.
